TALK AT THE CAPITAL

Professor Saunders' Report of Crops in the Northwest.
Departmental Officials with regard to the Revolt of the Inhabitants—Fruitful Rates of the C. P. R. Discussed by the Railway Committee.
OTTAWA, August 1.—Prof. Saunders, director of the government experimental farms has returned from the Northwest, where he has been inspecting the work in progress at the experimental farms at Brandon and Indian Head.

At the Brandon farm the professor found 20 head of cattle for tuberculosis and 21 were found to be affected. Of these 19 were thoroughbreds and two grade. Nine of them were bred in Ontario and 13 in Manitoba.
At Indian Head 13 animals out of 88 proved to be diseased. Four were bred at Indian Head and 9 obtained in Ontario.
The diseases in many of the animals at both farms were in the earliest stages and could not, in such cases, have been detected by any physical symptoms.

It is expected an average about 20 bushels per acre.
At Indian Head, south of the experimental farms, the professor found that the wheat in the district north west rain has fallen, and the wheat is expected to average about 25 to 30 bushels. West of Indian Head the crops are said to be very light. From the district north west the professor reports the crops are reported to be very good.
The Trouble Over Warehouse Fees.

JAPANESE MINISTER MOBBED

Chinese Soldiers Set Upon Him on His Departure for Japan—Anarchy Feared in Hankow—Shanghai Will Be Recognized as a Free Port.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—The grave questions for Europe and especially for England arising out of the war in the east are already seriously disturbing diplomatic and commercial relations. It is so long since a state of war between important powers existed that the request for recognition, in the case of the British, will find much difficulty in enforcing strict laws of neutrality.

It is virtually necessary for China to provide herself with immense quantities of war material, and it is already known that she is willing to pay fabulous prices for it. It is a fact she is busily importing in England, Germany, Belgium and Italy for the purpose of equipping her army and navy.

It is an almost open secret in certain circles in London that she is making efforts to assemble a fleet in a certain continental port from which it could soon be despatched by an indirect route to the coast of East Asia.

THE RIOTS IN QUEBEC

Two Stories of the Attacks of the Mob on the Protestant Missions.

THE MOB COMPOSED OF BOYS

Not a Man, It is Now Stated, Was Among the Mob that Attacked the Protestant Missions.

Quebec, Aug. 8.—The city was the scene of a disgraceful riotous demonstration on Monday night. A French Baptist mission has recently been established in this city with its headquarters in a building on the corner of St. John's and St. Louis streets. The attack was a fierce one, and windows and doors were smashed, and the interior of the building was looted.

The mob, composed of boys, was led by a young man named St. John. The mob, composed of boys, was led by a young man named St. John. The mob, composed of boys, was led by a young man named St. John.

At the time of the attack the place was crowded with people. The mob, composed of boys, was led by a young man named St. John. The mob, composed of boys, was led by a young man named St. John.

There is every reason to fear a recurrence of the trouble, and the fact that a similar disturbance took place in the city a few years ago, gave rise to the gravest apprehensions on this score.

PRACTICAL FARMING.

Milk Formation.

Much discussion of late has been devoted to the influence which the food given to dairy cows has upon the quality of the milk produced by a cow is largely dependent upon the amount and kinds of food given there is little doubt how much the proportionate amount of butter fat in the milk is affected with a matter of doubt. A careful analysis of that white opaque fluid so familiar to us all, called milk, shows that it derives its whiteness and opacity from the presence of numerous globules of very minute size floating in a watery-like fluid or serum. These globules compose the latter fat, they are the morphological portion of the milk. The fluid in which these float is composed of casein, sugar of milk and various salts in solution. Our general conclusion respecting milk must be, according to minute observation, that it is a physiological product possessing a morphological element which gives those qualities and peculiarities which render it so agreeable and essential to civilized man, that the recognition of this morphological element and its various changes is the key to much that is difficult to understand in practical dairymaking. That the food of the dairy man can improve his product by just elimination, and the breeder can breed for certain well defined characteristics, and thus bring his desires as the grazer has in breeding to external form.

By means of a microscope study of milk, the experienced worker can judge of the relative value of a milk, and can quickly separate from a batch of cows which produce an unprofitable milk for the better manufacturer. He can also separate the milk which is the most valuable to the cheese maker from those which are the most valuable to the butter maker. He can also separate the milk which will make his milk best for his purpose. It will be understood that other questions which arise under similar conditions may be considered apart from the information derived from the microscope, as that of breeds, the season of the year, the method pursued with the cream, any special sudden change of food, disease, etc. For a similar purpose of similar circumstances, the microscope will give a definite answer in definite terms, and it cannot be overestimated the value which through ignorance or a wilful neglect of thought. Water is the product of a dairyman's trade, and it is accordingly the presence of water has little influence on the total amount of butter; it can change the percentage equivalent of the butter element in the milk. The butter of the milk can also be increased by a theoretical and practical fact by the presence of material in the blood upon which the cells of the milk glands can excrete a mixture of secretions, and thus influence their own growth. The obtaining of this composition of the blood to the nutritive process, and the chemical composition of the food. The food must not only be of a nature such as will digestible, but the nature of the food and its constituents has a large effect in promoting digestion, absorption, assimilation, etc., in truth, the food is the key to the chief, if not the only media for the transference of organic matter from place to place in the animal body.

Excessive Fat.

It has not been very long since it was considered not only desirable, but was profitable, to make the hog as fat as possible before marketing. In many cases led to the feeding of hogs for excessive weight, but this in the measure at least, has been changed, and the modern hog is a better proportion of lean. Excessive fat, either in a hog, a beef or a mutton, is a detriment rather than a benefit. A medium animal, young, vigorous and thrifty, matured, will bring a higher price per pound than a larger, older or fatter animal.

The feeding must be done in a way that will secure a vigorous, thrifty growth from the start, giving a ration that will secure a good growth and development of bone and muscle, keeping in such a condition that only a short feed on a fattening ration will be all that is necessary to bring the animal to market. In addition to the better price it is possible to receive for this class of animals is the fact that they are a less risk of loss. An excessively fat animal is a less healthy one, and is more liable to disease. With all classes of stock up to a certain stage a rapid gain can be realized. After that the gain is much slower in proportion to the amount of food supplied. It requires a great deal of food to keep a fat animal, and when it is lost the loss is great. Generally an average of 200 lbs. will give more and a better profit than a larger weight. Under what may be considered reasonably fair conditions (feeding) the animal can be secured when they are eight months old. With cattle from 1,200 to 1,500 pounds weight secured in the same time the cattle are not more than thirty months old, will return a better profit than to keep them until they are past three years of age. A good animal, fed so as to secure a vigorous, thrifty growth, and an early maturity, is essential to a good quality of meat.

Damming the Irish Channel.

A stupendous scheme has recently been seriously suggested for the utilization in British waters of the energy of ocean currents for the purpose of electricity. The power and light by means of electric power of population at a distance of hundreds of miles from the source. This is nothing less than the proposition to dam the Irish Channel, at the Mull of Cantire, where the distance between the two shores is only fifteen miles, and where the energy of the current from the north is so far as human requirements are concerned, it would have to be expressed in some of millions of horse power. That this proposition is better regarded with some degree of seriousness may be gathered from the fact that a series of hydrographic surveys of the bottom of the Irish Channel has been made and charts prepared. The coast and bed of the channel, on both sides, is being mapped, and the results are being sent out for building the dam. The report of an engineer who has been engaged in the work is to the effect that there is no engineering difficulty in the way; by which it is stated that, given the right material, it is a possible thing to do, and is, compared for instance with the erection of the Brooklyn bridge, a piece of work requiring merely enough brute force.

This Famous Little Island Has Been Brought to Poverty and Distress.

An achievement which the world hailed as one of the crowning triumphs of the century brought poverty and distress to the island of St. Helena. The five thousand people of St. Helena never dreamed, in the days when most of the world's great men were exiled there, that the island would become a place of poverty and distress. The island was a place of luxury and comfort, and the people were well-to-do. But when the island was brought to poverty and distress, the people were left to suffer.

PARKER'S DRUG STORE.

Overcoats For Tourists.

We have a great many sudden changes in the weather and no man should go away on his holidays without a light weight overcoat.

One night last week a rather shabby dressed man was arrested at the drug store for being drunk and disorderly. On being searched at the police station $2,036.26, were found in his pockets.

Kansas has again suffered from drought, especially the western and southern portions where it is said entire counties have not as much as a wagon load of green stalks growing. Corn in some of the fine prime valleys, which ten days ago gave promise of growing 90 bushels per acre, will not produce a single bushel on 100 acres. Thousands and thousands of acres have not a green blade or a stalk of corn left.

At the Belleville Cheese Board on Tuesday there were received 1415 boxes white and 410 Cheddar. Sales were made at 9 and 9.50.

We have received a handsome little book "Sovereign of Sarcina" setting forth the beauties of that place and vicinity as a summer resort. It is beautifully illustrated and sets forth the attractions of that town in an interesting manner.

When we consider the fact that 75 per cent of people with defective eyesight have some degree of astigmatism, at least 40 per cent have two bad eyes, it is not surprising that the necessity of going to some properly trained optician such as is to be found at ANTON MEECE & Co's, Belleville, and eye exams properly fitted. No charge for testing.

A young woman named Florence Ostrom, daughter of Mr. Geo. M. Ostrom, on the 1st of July, committed suicide by jumping over the falls from the top of the falls, a short distance from the town of Belleville. The young woman was about 21 years of age and was highly respected. The cause of the tragedy is not known.

One evening last week while Mr. S. J. Drenell was hauling a milk can at a well on the premises of Mr. Francis Elliott, a little west of the village, the milk can fell and broke, killing Mr. Drenell. The milk can was about 10 feet high and was full of milk. The accident was caused by the milk can being too heavy for the horse to pull.

There has been a large falling off in emigration from the British Isles this year in the present year. The number of emigrants to the United States in the first seven months was 76,394, as compared with 144,227 in the same period last year. Less than half the usual number sought homes in Canada, and slightly fewer have gone to the Australasian colonies. The general result is that emigrants to all parts have been 112,440, against 204,122 in 1930.

Boys' Suits.

The Oak Hall boys' suits from the celebrated firm of W. E. Sanford, of Chicago, and from them only. Our reason for this is that we have tried other makes, and while some may wear as well they do not fit the same. The beauty of Sanford's boys' suits is that they always fit well, the boys wear well. No other firm in Belleville can sell you Sanford's clothing only the Oak Hall.

Drowning Accident.

One of the saddest accidents that has happened in our village for some time took place on Tuesday forenoon last, about ten o'clock, when the young daughter of Mr. John Shaw, aged about ten years, while playing in the yard, fell into a well, and on searching being made she was found dead in the tub, and though every effort was immediately made to resuscitate her, it was without avail, life being extinct. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon, at four o'clock, and was largely attended. Mr. and Mrs. Shaw have the sympathy of the community in their sad and sudden bereavement.

Presentation to Jas. Haggerty, Esq.

On Friday evening last, the 17th inst., about one thousand of the friends and supporters of Jas. Haggerty, Esq., M.P.P., met at his residence, West Huntingdon, for mutual congratulations and the presentation to him of an address signed by the members of the assembly, and after a few complimentary remarks introduced Mr. J. T. Bellshaw, who, on behalf of the assembly, read an address to Mr. Haggerty and presented him with the address. Mr. Haggerty, in reply, made a few remarks, and then Mr. J. T. Bellshaw addressed the assembly. The I.O.O.F. Band furnished excellent music throughout the evening. The feature was a short but lively speech and song by the venerable Barnaby Vankloek, of Madoc, who is 92 years of age.

Our High School.

The following is the record of the Stirling High School at the recent midsummer examinations.

Frank C. Bird—Senior Leaving with Greek and Latin options.

Matriculation in full, James Parker (optional subject Greek).

Matriculation completed—J. Mites (Latin), J. A. Johnston (Latin), Allan McKelvie (Greek and Latin Authors), Edwin J. Keil (Greek and Latin).

Junior Leaving (non-professional) Second Class—J. B. Sager, Sarah Courtney, John Corrigan.

Third Class (non-professional)—Hattie Martin, Alexander Hough, Catharine McConnell, Allan J. Macfarlane, Della Young, and Faith Macfarlane.

The brilliancy of the success of our school will be better understood, when we reflect that it surpasses sixty High Schools and Colleges in the Province, and equals seven others. The papers set were the same and the examinations held in the same manner.

The work of no school, but when Stirling High School with its staff of two and its average of fifty to sixty pupils, compare such schools as Orangeville with a staff of four eminent men and an average of over one hundred pupils, it is a fair comparison. Truly say we have done something. Our teachers must have had few idle minutes. They must have known their work and performed it.

Promotion List.

RIVER VALLEY PUBLIC SCHOOL.

Entrance to High School—Emma Hanna, Entrance to Second Class—Maud Irene, Maggie Bush, Tom. Donohoe, Ida Boulton, Ida Hanna, Edith Wamankar and Maud Hanna.

Mr. John Rodgers, of Trenton, with his three daughters, Mrs. J. A. Rodgers, Mrs. Taylor, of Rochester and Miss Rodgers, made a flying visit to their friends Messrs. Robert and William Rodgers and J. H. Reid, on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Alex. Rodgers, of Warkworth, with his cousin, Mrs. Lancaster, of Stockdale, made a flying visit to their friends Mr. Robert Rodgers, on Sunday and Monday last.

The Ridge Road Sunday School opened its doors on Friday last, and will meet on Friday.

A large time is expected.

Mr. William Keen is very ill.

Chatterbox Chaps.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mrs. McMaster, of Bayville, is visiting at Mr. J. N. Palmer's.

Mr. Mr. Norman Prince Edward County is at present staying with his son-in-law Mr. A. Foster.

Mr. Connor returned home on Friday after camping a week with friends at Stony Lake.

Mr. John Johnston, of Belleville, spent a few days last week with Miss A. Johnston.

The Lawn Social given on the 16th inst., in connection with the Sabbath School here, was a success. The grounds were nicely lighted by Chinese lanterns. The Stirling Band, which was present, played very greatly to the pleasure of the evening, as also did the tables laden with fruits and refreshments.

The library recently purchased by the school, is now open to the public.

Some Merchants.

Let the best goods they can find, others get the meanness they can. With each season Berkshaw & Co. aim to better quality all round. By this we hope to educate shoppers into buying the better class of merchandise at prices commensurate with good value. Dress Goods, Linens and much else that this year's standard goes up a notch higher than last.

APPEARITIONS IN HISTORY.

Byron often received visits from a specter, but he knew it to be a creation of imagination.

Goethe says that he one day saw the exact counterpart of himself coming toward him.

Pope saw an arm apparently come out through the wall and made inquiries after its owner.

Dr. Johnston heard his mother call his name in a clear voice, though she was at that time in another city.

Count Emmanuel Swederberg believed that he had the privilege of interviewing persons in the spirit world.

Josephine was wounded during the siege of Pampunasa, saw the Virgin, who encouraged him to prosecute the military career.

Devereaux was followed by an invisible person, whose voice he heard urging him to continue his researches into the occult.

St. John Reynolds, leaving his home, thought the lamps were trees and the men women, but was cured by the broom.

Oliver Cromwell, lying sleepless on his couch, saw the curtains open and a gigantic woman appear, who told him he would become the greatest man in England.

Botocod, the physiologist, saw figures and faces, and there was one human figure constantly before him for twenty-four hours, the features and headgear as distinct as those of a living person.

CHURCH HANDICREPT.

The Society of Friends recently sent a check for $3,000 to the Salvation Army for use in its social scheme.

During the last four years the Christians of England have given $2,000,000 toward the erection of new churches in the German capital.

The most numerous body of religionists that is devoted to Buddhism, 420,000,000. The number of Christians is estimated at 408,000,000.

In the islands of the sea there are 211 stations occupied by 190 missionaries. Twelve schools are represented. The converts number 100,000.

During the last year the Bible society of Germany distributed more than 25,000 copies of the Holy Scriptures at an expense of $5,000.

The Church Missionary society of England last year had an income of $22,000 in excess of its expenditures, which amounted to $1,250,000.

India has eight Christian colleges and 26,000 schools and 3,000,000 pupils. There are 18,000,000 girls of school age and only one in six is educated.

Contributions to all benevolent purposes by Protestant Christians of the United States amount to about $85,000,000 annually. Only one seventh of this is given to foreign missions.

A good many boys have turned out badly because they had fathers who made them work with a dull hoe—Rams Horn.

The change in the complexion of things, "mused" Wiggins as he gazed at his wife's dressing-case—Philadelphia Record.

The poet writes of the music of the wood land depths, but he omitted to say that it is the pine tree that gives the pitch—Louisiana.

A young lady who was pelted with confetti by the Rex maskers said: "To be candid, I do not like them to throw confetti at me."—Pittsburgh Courier.

"Do you think you love me, Dennis?" asked Judy. "Do, darling; as you please." "How can you know that?" "Because you're a little bit of a fool."—Troy Times.

RELIGIOUS SMILES.

"Deacon," said a minister out west, after a heavy sermon, "I'm tired." "Indeed," replied the deacon, "then you know how to pray the congregation."

"Ah, parson, I wish I could take my good wife with me," said a dying deacon, who very truly but very religiously said, "I might melt," was the minister's consoling reply.

"What do you think of your new minister?" inquired a scratchy old consumer. "I don't think much of him," answered: "I think him a little bit of a fool."

A lady was once narrating to Bishop Temple how her aunt had escaped from a railway accident. "Five people in the same compartment were killed and my aunt alone escaped; wasn't it providential?" "Humph," said the bishop, "don't know your aunt's last say."

A colonel commanding a British regiment in India requested a drill sergeant to give him a list of the names of some recruits. The latter were paraded and the sergeant orated: "Fall in. Church of England on the right; the rest of the world on the left; all fussy religious to the rear."

A decree was granted in Massachusetts because "the defendant keeps this plain-looking man from the night quarters."

One Greek stated had a law that if a man divorced his wife he could not marry a woman younger than the discarded partner.

Roman law allowed divorce for three causes: The Scriptural reason, design on a husband's life and the possession of false keys.

A New Jersey wife got a divorce because "the defendant does not wash himself, thereby causing the plaintiff great mental anguish."

A Tennessee court liberated a wife because "the defendant does not wash himself, thereby causing the plaintiff great mental anguish."
